

NAPLES reports 283 deaths from cholera in one day.

Mrs. PARRELL, the mother of the great Irish leader, is using her influence in behalf of Governor Cleveland.

Hon. THOMAS A. HENDRICKS has accepted an invitation to attend the Cincinnati Exposition, September 30th.

The Democrats of Arkansas will meet in State convention October 21st for the purpose of nominating a successor to Judge English.

THE BULLETIN had better ascertain whether Mr. Wadsworth is sound on JAY'S TREATY 1793.—(New Republican.)

Not necessary. We have ascertained that he was sound on a treaty, and that is all we want to know at present.

THE BULLETIN's attack on Mr. Wadsworth are already having their weight. They are really making him more votes.—(New Republic.)

Then why do you howl so? The truth is you have been lanced in tender places and the wounds hurt.

Was the gentleman from Ohio in favor of the war with Mexico, or did he approve of the Black Hawk war?

Don't know. But we know that Mr. Wadsworth was in favor of giving negroes to the Government to dig trenches or drive wagons as freely as he would give a horse.

SAMUEL J. LEWIS, an intelligent colored Democrat of Cincinnati, says: "The colored Democrats are in better shape this year than they were ever before. In some of the wards where there is a large colored vote it will be evenly divided, and in two wards the Democrats will poll a majority of them."

The vote for Congressmen in this county the last two Presidential years was as follows:

1876.	2,321
Democrat (Republican)	1,889
Democrat majority	432
1880.	2,575
Democrat (Republican)	1,839
Democrat majority	736

The Louisville Times says: In Mr. Blaine's speech on the floor of Congress he called the Mulligan letters "the most intimate business correspondence of my life." In another passage he exclaimed: "I am not afraid to show the letters. Thank God, America, I am not ashamed to show them."

Then why did he beg "My dear Fisher" to "burn one" and why did he withhold another?

PERHAPS the millions James G. Blaine has accumulated in twenty years on a salary of $5,000 per year are to be accounted for on the ground of his personal magnetism; that is to say, that the money was attracted to his fingers and stacked. John Sherman's similar accumulations under much the same circumstances, it has been clearly shown, resulted from frugality alone.

Was "Captain" Powers an officer in the Union army, or was he a home-guard? Perhaps the "New Republican" will be instructed the BULLETIN on that point.—(New Republican.)

"Captain" Powers at that time was a boy in a dyed-in-the-wool Democratic family and was too young to go into either army and fight like a man for principle's sake, or to harass and terrorize a community of non-combatants as a Home Guard.

If the BULLETIN only could convict Mr. Wadsworth of being opposed to the Union Proviso or Slender's memorial it would be happy.—(New Republican.)

Don't distress yourself. We are perfectly contented with convicting him of being a Democrat, "a Union Democrat without a party," as he, himself, expressed it, a liberal Republican, a straight out radical and a turn-coat of the deepest dye. This is sufficient for our present gratification.

Will orator Powers stamp the district, and will tell the Democrats that those of them who sympathized with Mr. Wadsworth's Union sentiments during the war have no respect for themselves?—(New Republican.)

Will orator Wadsworth when he stamps the district, tell the people he asks to vote for him, why he didn't raise his voice in Congress to inquire, as Senator Powell did, why Kentuckians who were not guilty of any crime and who were not charged with any, were arbitrarily dragged from their homes and thrown into prison. Will orator Wadsworth also point out what kind of Democrats sympathized with this sort of "union sentiment?"

Mr. Wadsworth is fairly and honorably the nominee of the Republican party in this district. The honor came without seeking.—(New Republican.)

The honor came to him by Mr. Culbertson being kicked from the track when he was in all justice entitled to the nomination over any Republican in the district. And it should not be forgotten that Mr. Wadsworth's friends in this city openly declared that they would not vote for Mr. Culbertson if he was nominated, and that Mr. Culbertson was nominated before he was before the convention to withdraw his name that he saw the leading Republican workers were against him and would not vote for him if he was made the nominee.

HERE is something on the subject of "naked savages" that may be of interest to the colored Blaine and Logan club of this city which lately endorsed Mr. Wadsworth and pledged support to him. It is part of his record in Congress and it is preserved in the archives of the club. It is an extract from a speech delivered by him in the House of Representatives on the 12th day of March 1862, and any one who wishes to verify it will find it printed on page 1,199, of the Congressional Globe, of that year:

"Two hundred and twenty-five thousand contented and happy creatures, of humble mental capacity and of an inferior race, are in our midst. The native tribes from which they spring, are still in Africa, naked savages, wandering in the woods or offered as sacrifices upon the grave of the King of Dahomey to appease the manes of his father. They know not God. All the arts of civilization are unknown to them. Their brethren in this country 'we have never degraded and we never propose to degrade them. We have elevated them from that barbarous condition, to as high a point, perhaps, as their humble capacity will permit them to reach. As the Anglo-Saxon race continues its grand march to the goal of civilization, lessening the distance between earth and heaven, this inferior race will march with it, and in the providence of God and by his means, now undisclosed to man, form, it may be, a more important part in the grand drama of life than it now does. My feeble eyes cannot see it. I know what the African has performed in his own country when left to himself with the example even of the white man before him and around him. I know that if deserted by the white race he would soon degenerate into the condition in which our Northern and Southern ancestors found him, and as 'we now find his brethren in Africa.' There is Mr. Wadsworth's opinion of you. He thinks if left to yourselves you would degenerate into naked savages as your brethren now are in the woods of Africa. He wants you to vote for him for Congress."

The Courier-Journal says: The electoral votes of Ohio are not essential to the election of Cleveland and Hendricks; nor have they been present to Democratic candidates for President and Vice President since 1852. This year there was a political tornado in the land, which swept everything before it in all the States save Vermont, Massachusetts, Kentucky and Tennessee. The Boston Herald, in this brief paragraph, correctly sets forth the present outlook in Ohio: "The information impartedly gathered in the chief cities of Ohio, and published in the Sunday Herald, presented as clear an idea as can be formed at this time of the political situation in that State. The Republicans were seriously alarmed at the prospects a fortnight ago, and the visit of Mr. Blaine, as part of the plan for an extraordinary effort during the remainder of the canvass, show that there are by no means satisfied with the outlook. The Democrats are slow in getting to work, and rely too much on last year's success. They have a good fighting chance to win in October, but they can only win by fighting as for the Presidency itself."

MR. BLAINE'S OWN PARTY associates seem to know him best. It is from them that the Democrats get their information concerning the Maine statesman. Here is Henry S. Lamb, for instance, a leading Republican of New York, formerly State superintendent of Banks, who says:

"Mr. Blaine is the type of a class of men who make politics their profitable vocation in life. In addition to the notorious public testimony of Mr. Blaine's crooked deal in the Union Pacific, since by some of his Republican associates in Congress that pending corporate and private measures which antagonize public interests too frequently found in Mr. Blaine a champion and advocate. For twenty years he has been a speculator. He was never the examiner of great undertakings and of practical, useful industries to gain commissions. To reap profits from speculation have been his practice. I know myself that he was engaged in the speculation in 1851. While Secretary of the State and his followers, promoters of a speculative enterprise which utterly collapsed very soon after Mr. B. ate, Tom Ewing, Jr., of Ohio, and their associates betrayed their shares. Recovery is in possession of the remains. All this evidence and can tell convince me that his election would be a national misfortune. Hence, while I am now a Republican than I have never been opposed to the election of Mr. Blaine as I was to his nomination."

In 1864 Mr. Wadsworth voted for General McClellan, the Democratic candidate for President. In 1868 he turned his coat and voted for General Grant, the Republican candidate for the same office. This thing of voting first on one side and then on the other is what caused the statement to be made in the Convention the other day by a leading Republican that "Mr. Wadsworth's record as a Republican was not such as to commend him to the Republicans of the district."

Was the gentleman from Ohio in favor of the late war and does he approve of the coercion of the seceding States?—New Republican.

Does the gentleman from Pennsylvania, Mr. Culbertson, favor the election of Mr. Wadsworth? Does he approve of the assertion of some of Mr. Wadsworth's friends that "the reason the bullet did not find the brain, was that there was no brain to find."

Humors of St. John's Withdrawal.
NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—It was said at the Democratic headquarters last evening that one of the purposes of Mr. Blaine's visit to this city was to secure the withdrawal of St. John, the prohibition candidate. A leading prohibitionist in this city said the argument used by Mr. Blaine's friends was that the vote in Maine on the prohibition amendment should satisfy everybody that Mr. Blaine was as good a friend to the prohibitionists as St. John. He added that St. John was not in New York and that his friends would not consent to his withdrawal. It should be, however, withdrawn, an equally strong candidate would at once be put in the field.
